About Us

The Canadian Real Estate Professional Conference (CREPC), researched and produced by Canadian Real Estate Wealth magazine is the newest and most innovative event for real estate professionals. This event brings the real estate investment market to the forefront and provides premier education and training to professionals seeking new ways to increase their business through the very lucrative consumer segment of high net-worth real estate investors as well as through international lead referrals.

Take part in this opportunity to not only learn the ins and outs of the real estate investment market but get in front of over 400 high net worth real estate investors. The CREPC is held in conjunction with the Investor Forum Toronto where investors come together to network and learn more about how to make more money in real estate. During the strategically timed networking breaks between the CREPC and Investor Forum conferences, you will be able to gain new leads for future business and get working on multiple deals with your new investor clients!
